

Martin Brunsden - biography

Martin plays double bass and singing saw and has worked with literally hundreds of musicians, bands, artists, poets and theatre companies. He appears on over 200 recordings, has travelled the world extensively and is presently living on the majestic North-west coast of Ireland with his family of children, instruments and vegetables.

The last ten years have seen constant touring, numerous performances of interactive musical shows for children at the Ark in Dublin, a residency at Artplay in Melbourne, Australia, many media appearances including The Late Late Show and a steadily growing reputation as an accompanist to some of the cream of Irish and International musicians.

Current and recent projects include engagements with:

- Nico Brown
- Liam Ó Maonlaí
- Hothouse Flowers
- P.J. Harvey
- Sinéad O' Connor
- Baaba Maal
- Toumani Diabate
- Kíla
- Solas
- Pentangle

